

Crime Report

Case No.: 0780504

Date: 09/16/2011

Incident: Assault by unknown assailant during night showing at Rialto Theater.

Event Report

Attack first reported at 23:17 by civilians in crowd at Rialto Theater. Witnesses report a "huge, snarling man with claws." One theater employee sustained serious injuries and remains in critical condition.

From the employee's interview:

That night I was on doors. One second I'm watching the show, next thing I know that thing is sprinting at me. I'm a big guy but it just threw me. Nearly knocked the door off its hinges too.

me irl

It was carrying some girl, fireman. She yelled 'Sorry!' on her way out...

oops
lol
gws

Multiple witness confirmed that the attacker is a man-like creature with claws and fangs, but we know very little about the incident, so building evidence is crucial at this time.

Reported details vary:

→ Did you check the notebook?

1. 2-3" claws.
2. 6'5" to 7' in height.
3. Visible coarse black hair growing from hands and face.
4. Wearing ripped red-black plaid and denim.

One detail is certain: the creature is dangerous. Bite me x0

Witnesses also confirm the creature carried a woman out of the venue. All nearby witnesses believe she may be an accomplice. But the Sheriff is convinced she may be a shocked hostage.

Sheriff Cooper is a moron ...

The events fit a pattern of previous incidents in three municipalities within 50mi within the past 5 years. We have identified (5) male suspects. The female remains unidentified.

Stopping a future attack is critical. Our investigators are focused on one thing:

Where did they run?

towards ---- ♥

Couldn't be me

My claws are huge

